a better story

First Presbyterian Church of Bend
2011-2012

Our theme for 2011/2012 is LIVING A BETTER STORY. What is the story of your life? How is that story being lived out through the chapter you are in right now? Do you know yourself to be called as a character in a greater story being told by the Master Storyteller? We are excited to turn the page to the next chapter of the story of the community of faith known as First Presbyterian. The pages are empty. The story is waiting to be told. Our prayer is that we each listen for and respond to that whisper in our hearts calling us into Living A Better Story.

Each week we will be asking a question that you can carry with you into your week to ponder, write, discuss, and process. As we enter more deeply into our stories together, our prayer is that we will enter more fully into God's story that continues to redeem the world with love.

To remind you of the theme, please take a window cling (or two) available at church. Stick them on your bathroom mirror or in the front window of your car – anywhere that will remind you to live a better story.

And while you're at it, pick up a booklet with all the current events and opportunities to be engaged in.

Join us each Sunday and throughout the week as we live a better story together.
